DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 3/8/07 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 14-30 and 36-72 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Independent claims 14, 30, 45, 50, 55 and 58 have been amended to state that the step of permitting tissue securing elements to move from a biased configuration to an unbiased configuration is done "without applying a force that moves the tissue securing elements from the biased to the unbiased configuration". That is, the tissue securing elements is permitted to transform without apply any force.

However, there is no support for the amended limitation in the specification. As seen in page 14, line 32 – page 15, line 21, an applier 52 is actuated by depressing the end 88 of plunger 64, which forces the tissue securing elements out of slots 86, which results in the tissue securing elements converting from the biased configuration to the unbiased configuration. Therefore, as taught in the specification, a force is required to move the tissue securing element out of the slots in order to allow or “permit” the tissue securing elements to transform from the biased configuration to the unbiased configuration. The applicant is suggested to include a step of ejecting the tissue securing element from the openings before the “permitting step” since a force is required to eject the tissue securing elements to allow it to passively transform once free of the openings.

It is noted that all the pending claims are rejected for containing new matter.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 14-30 and 36-72 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
